

SPIRITUAL HELP for EVERYDAY LIFE

w/ INGRID AUER®

SPIRITUALITY IN BUSINESS ... ADMIRER OR RIDICULED?

We all have watched seasoned business people on TV or we have encountered them in magazines and have seen them smile from the front covers. We might even have been there live, at big events, where they were presenting in front of huge audiences. But - did it ever occur to us that under all that polished exterior there is also a spiritual side to the person? He or she are, after all, spiritual beings in a physical vehicle, like the rest of us.

So far it is still more common in business circles to pooh pooh spirituality rather than to ask a very real question: how will we ever effect lasting positive change in our world if we don't want to be this change ourselves, i.e. let a new, spiritual consciousness guide us and take hold in all areas of our society? This means that this must go further than our personal lives, reaching into areas of business, politics, economy and sociology. If you care to look closer, they already exist, these spiritual business women (and men), who have confidence in their take on life, and don't feel they have to apologize for it. Spirituality and business are not contradictions, as a matter of fact, they create the necessary underpinnings for togetherness so we can make earth a place where life is still worth living.
