

SPIRITUAL HELP for EVERYDAY LIFE

"MUSIC OPENS YOU UP TO SPIRITUALITY"

Every human being is hardwired for spirituality -- or -- to say it in different words -- there is no such thing as a non-spiritual human being. Admittedly, we do live in times where people are more or less focusing on achievements in the domains of economy, science, technology, medicine and research. So, in everyday life, there is usually little or no room for spirituality. We know from our ancient writings that spiritual ceremonies and rituals have always been accompanied by sound, be it human voices or music played on instruments. Sounds have the capacity to transport body and mind into higher realms of existence. Scientific studies have proven once and for all that music and harmonic sound vibrations influence not only the physical body in a positive way, but also the subtle bodies like the chakras and the auric field. This is the reason why holistic doctors, health practitioners, midwives or healers use music to help effect positive change. Ingrid Auer is combining her spiritual tools very successfully with high vibrational music like the compositions of the Canadian musician Robert Haig Coxon. This way she is guiding her clients to find the way back to themselves and their own inner potential.

ROBERT HAIG COXON

Although Robert had been studying and composing music for many years, it was after taking the Silva Mind Control course that he realized how powerful sound could be in relaxing the body and opening the consciousness. He then decided to write his first album. His CD „Cristal Silence“ quickly became a major hit throughout Canada, staying on top of the charts for many years. This was the beginning of his continuing phenomenal success as composer and solo artist. For the last 29 years he has performed only his original compositions in concert. Robert has been nominated four times for the prestigious “Felix” award (French Canada equivalent to the Grammy), and became Canada’s best-selling New Age artist. His international breakthrough came after composing „The Silent Path“ in 1995. This album was an instant hit in Canada, the USA and France. After hearing The Silent Path, Lee Carroll, internationally renowned author of 15 best selling Kryon and Indigo books, contacted Robert and asked him to join his team on tour. Through the years this has given Robert the opportunity to experience different cultures and inspires him to write music honoring these many countries he performs in. Robert offers us nine albums, the latest three being The Infinite, Essence of Life, Goddess -The Power of Woman and Passion Compassion Alegría. When not traveling the World, Robert spends time in his studio scoring for television and writing for both his next albums and his many international concerts.
