

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE WITH THE ANGEL SYMBOL CARDS 1 – 49 AND THE ANGEL AURA ESSENCES “ACROSS THE RAINBOW BRIDGE”

In the Tibetan Book of the Dead, dating from the 8th century, which was discovered in a cave in the 14th century, and dates back to the founder of Tibetan Buddhism, you can read that the process of dying proceeds in six different phases. They can vary in length from person to person. During all the phases of the process of dying it is important to care for positive energies around the dying. Essential oils, sounds, mantras, prayers, massages, or the like, can accompany the process of dying. Nowadays, however, it is often very hard to create ideal conditions for a death, as most people end their lives in hospitals.

The dying person has not entirely left his body's exterior, but the peel off between the body and the soul is in progress. In the Book of the Dead we can read that it takes some time after death to let go. In some cases people talk about a pleasant feeling of closeness between the dying and the bereaved.

ANGEL SYMBOLS FOR THE FOUR PHASES OF MOURNING

Grief is one of the most important learning and transformation processes of our human life. Strictly speaking, our life consists of a sequence of small or big separations, farewells and losses. It starts with leaving the womb, and ends with leaving the physical body. Dr. Kübler-Ross also talked about four different phases in dealing with grief, although the mourning process is an individual thing, of course. There are no 'ideal times' where grief should have been gone through. It is important that the mourning person has somebody at his side who just accepts him.

The first phase of mourning is shock. It takes from some hours up to a few days. It is usually about a sudden, unexpected death. It can show itself as numbness or numbness, which is in reality a state of
